

PANEL 7 etc.

.. appendix for summer letter to the Yahoo JR group, dated 20080715

Hi again folks.

Today I finally got around sailing again after a long break. As always I brought with me my little camera and could take a couple of photos, illustrating matters discussed after the summer letter:

The shock chord at the leech of panel 7

The wind on the photo above was only about F3, so the boom has only lifted a bit. The shock chord has just taken in a bit slack.

Johanna's sail today at F3, setting well.

Even when close-hauled there was not enough down-haul from the sheets to cause big wrinkles.

Crew, Håvard wrestling with the tiller...

This photo is not arranged in any way. The tiller, controlling the semi-balanced rudder is indeed light.

Regards
Arne
